INTRODUCING MULTIMIN CHROME INJECTION FOR CATTLE: THE POWER OF 5 ESSENTIAL TRACE MINERALS

Virbac Australia is proud to launch Multimin Chrome Injection for Cattle¹, its most advanced injectable trace mineral supplement for young, growing cattle.

With five essential trace minerals, copper, selenium, zinc, manganese, and chromium; this innovative formulation supports the health and performance of young, growing animals by improving nutrient utilisation, and mitigating stress responses.

Scientific trials^{2,3} reveal impressive results, with treated calves experiencing up to 60% reduction in disease incidence and 58% reduction in mortality rates. Multimin Chrome is specifically formulated to support cattle during critical life stages, such as weaning, one of the most stressful periods in the life of young cattle.

“The inclusion of chromium to the trusted Multimin formulation can offer an extra edge to the known effects of Multimin. Chromium supplementation can mitigate the adverse effects of stress and improve nutrient utilisation helping to ensure resilient, healthy, productive, and profitable herds, even when stress and metabolic demands are at the highest” says Dr. Paula Gonzalez-Rivas, Technical Services Manager for Livestock at global animal health company, Virbac Australia.

Dr. Colin Trengove, a whole-of-farm nutrition expert, states “research has shown chromium improves carbohydrate, fat and protein metabolism, as well as regulates immune responses, and the secretion of hormones and some vitamins in the body. It improves reproduction, enhances growth, increases feed conversion efficiency, boosts immunity, reduces heat stress and decreases mortality”.

Multimin Chrome is an exciting innovation that can contribute to better performance outcomes for producers across Australia. Multimin Chrome is now available at Nutrien stores across the country, offering Australian cattle producers a science-backed solution to improve herd resilience, health, and productivity.

SATELLITE LIQUID MONITORING SYSTEM

EMBRACE REMOTE WATER MONITORING ON YOUR FARM THIS MOTHER'S DAY

As the summer weather really kicks in, managing water storage and usage on farms becomes more pressing. The Satellite Liquid Monitoring System (SLMS) offers a solution that goes beyond practicality — it gives you time. Time to spend with family, especially on Mother's Day.

Simple things this Mother's Day matter most. Quality time with the family, sharing a meal, or just enjoying good times together. For farming families, water management tasks can sometimes get in the way of what we all love about life on farm. Constantly checking water levels and ensuring livestock have enough supply can be time-consuming.

Satellite Liquid Monitoring Systems from Gallagher reduce time spent doing manual checks, saving countless hours. Its versatility means it can be used across different liquids. From water tanks and irrigation lines, to diesel and liquid fertiliser tanks. Even in the most remote areas, its micro-satellite communication technology ensures reliable performance.

This Mother's Day, give the gift of time. Let SLMS handle some hard work, so you can focus on the family, not just the farm.
